

Adventure stainless steel vacuum food jar 709ml

Picture it. You're working on a remote site. There's no on site power, the weather is freezing and has been all day. It's lunch time. Everybody has sandwiches that have been near-frozen thanks to the icy winds. Not you though. You don't have any sandwiches. You have nourishing, flavoursome, piping-hot stew!!

Because you have the fantastic Stanley Adventure series vacuum food jar.

Made from stainless steel it is naturally BPA free and every bit as tough and sexy as our customers!!

The 709ml Stanley Adventure vacuum food jar is designed for rugged outdoor life with rugged outdoor people so it can survive a knock or two. Which makes it the ideal choice for when you are working on those remote winter sites.

It will keep hot food hot for up to fifteen hours. Which coincidentally is just as long as it will keep cold food cold for, a huge bonus during the hot summer months when you could find yourself working a site that has no way to keep your food chilled!!
